Although Grades are important for holding students accountable for accuracy and completion of tasks, what is of utmost importance to me is that students understand the mathematical ideas they are learning. I see mistakes as an opportunity to learn and correct misconceptions about those ideas. As a parent, you can help your student by objectively helping them to analyze those errors. Is it just a simple calculation error that he/she can quickly correct on their own when they see it or is it a misconception about a specific concept that will continue to cause errors unless it is corrected? These misconceptions can be especially difficult to correct if they continue, so the sooner they are addressed the better.

In the back of the Student workbook is a Handbook. Pages 471 -472 are related to chapter 1 and can be used as an additional resource in understanding the concepts in this chapter.

Optional: Daily Reviews are a great way to be constantly reviewing concepts already taught. Students could complete the chapter 1 Daily Reviews which are on pages 402 to the top of 406. These are a review of 5th grade content. They should take about 10 minutes each to complete. They are designed for 1 a day review.
